

DESIGN AND REMODELING Trends

1979 – 2019

For the past forty years, our customers have invited us into their homes during different parts of their lives. Sometimes it's to turn a first house into a home. Sometimes it's to add space for a growing family. Sometimes it's to add comfort for more time with family and friends. Sometimes it's to add safety for peace of mind as we age. One of the best parts of our job is seeing how a family - and their home - grows and changes with time.

Likewise, our business has grown and changed over the past forty years. But like a good family home, Blue Ridge Home Improvement was built on a strong foundation. It's hard to believe it was 1979 when I returned to Blacksburg and began pursuing home repair work. At the time, my dad gave me some good advice. "Do what you say you're going to do. Be honest. Do good work, and you'll always have plenty to do."

Those words rang true, because forty years later we have stood the test of time with a core team that has demonstrated a commitment to the work, a duty to our customers, and a faith in our company. Joined by new faces, our team is as strong as ever.

We would not have been in business for these forty years if it was not for loyal customers like you. Thank you for your trust and confidence in us, we know how special and precious that is. And we look forward to growing with your home for generations to come.

KITCHENS & BATHS

Companies that last for generations do so because they focus on what they do best, and they hone those skills through years of experience. For us, that is kitchen and bath remodeling.

Over the years, we have seen a lot of different design challenges in these two spaces. In all of these cases, the space just isn't working for the family's daily needs. Through strategic design and sound building practices, we are able to find hidden or underutilized space to come up with creative solutions.

If your kitchen or bath "just isn't working" for you, reach out for a design consultation. No matter what your budget may be, you can achieve your dream kitchen or bath through smart design and high quality materials.

Susan Davidson is a Certified Associate Kitchen and Bath Designer (AKBD) through the NKBA

Susan began working with BRHI in January 2004, and she took an interest in learning to design kitchens and baths. After teaching herself design programs, her desire to become a design professional exploded and she became certified in June 2018.

As the only trade association dedicated exclusively to this industry, the primary purpose of NKBA certification programs is to provide for the health, safety, and welfare of the public. To ensure this, certification is offered exclusively to individuals who prove specialized qualifications through experience and testing.

Susan is also CAPS certified by the NAHB which strengthens her education to make sure she is providing the best designs for her clients.

This typical 1960's home had a small and dark enclosed kitchen with very little space. By removing two walls, we created a bright and open flow plan to keep the family connected.

Once the walls were removed, we situated the island to limit the amount of patching and repair work to the existing beautiful hardwood floors.

To use every inch of storage, the island consists of a large pot and pan drawer, and a two bin pullout trash/recycling cabinet. We added two 12" deep wall cabinets on the back - and constructed it to appear as a single unit - for much needed storage access from the dining area.

E We redesigned the layout to add wall cabinetry and took them all the way to the ceiling for additional storage.

This unused whirlpool tub just wasn't working for this family with small children. By adding a functional walk-in shower, we made bath time a breeze for everyone.

This custom designed shower features a rain showerhead and a handheld faucet on a slide bar to accommodate all heights in the family.

We also added a custom built wall shelf to store towels and other items within easy reach of the shower.

To create the feeling of space and let in light, we removed the walls and added glass shower walls.
